COGSDALE TO OPEN INNOVATION CENTRE

Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island. August 17, 2021 | Cogsdale Corporation has announced a new headquarters that will enhance employee collaboration and connectivity. The company will be opening the Cogsdale Collaboration & Innovation Centre (CIC), a dynamic office environment designed to support work-life balance and engage employees, on August 24th.

The Collaboration & Innovation Centre will provide a safe workspace that encourages collaboration and teamwork, sparking the best within employees. At the CIC, staff will be able to enjoy an open environment that allows them to continue working on the innovative solutions that makes Cogsdale best-of-breed. Physical distancing measures and compliance with provincial and municipal guidelines will continue to be strictly enforced.

The CIC is located in the heart of downtown Charlottetown, where Cogsdale continues to support the city and grow the company's island presence. "We continue to invest in the people and economy of Prince Edward Island; it's where we started nearly a quarter-century ago, and it's where Cogsdale calls home," said Todd Ohman, Executive Vice President of Cogsdale Corporation.

Supporting partners from Holland College, UPEI, and the Prince Edward Island Government will be in attendance to celebrate the next chapter of Cogsdale's island story.
